

eIRB uses pop-up windows to present users with information, as well as to ask questions and confirm actions. In order for the system to function properly, pop-up blocker should always be disabled when using the eIRB site. This action may need to be taken more than once, especially on University computers which receive automatic updates from ITS that may reset functions. NOTE: eIRB will no longer (as of May 2018) allow ANY system activity until pop-up blocker has been disabled. Use the steps below to disable pop-up blocker and access the system.

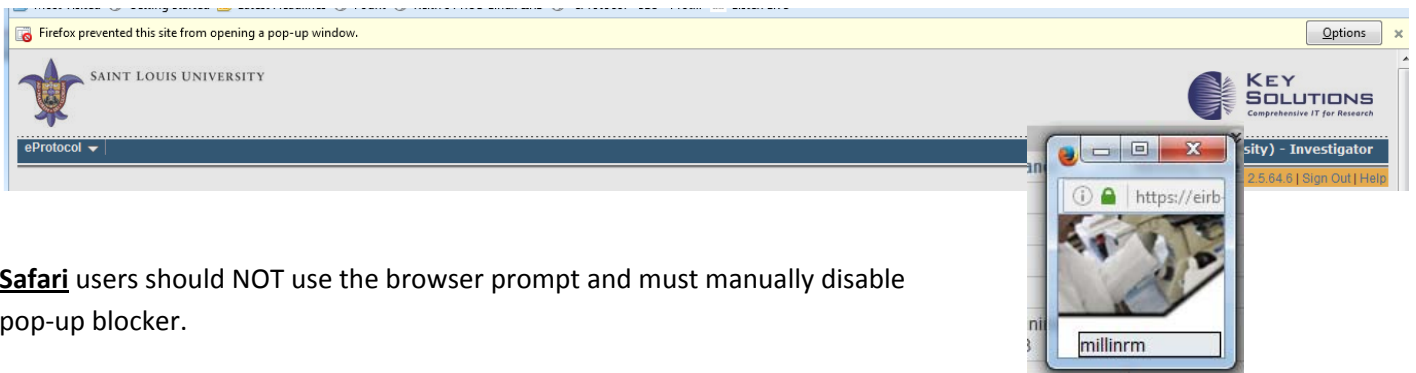

If pop-up blocker is turned on, users will receive a warning message (pictured here).

1. Click 'Quit' on the warning message
2. Disable pop-up blocker manually
3. Log in again

Google Chrome and Firefox users can also use the browser bar prompt to allow pop-ups. After using the prompt, (1) click 'Quit' on the warning message and (2) log in again.

NOTE: Using the browser bar prompt on Firefox will produce a tiny window that may be confusing. If using the browser bar prompt on Firefox- (1) close the tiny window, (2) click 'Quit' on the warning message, and (3) log in again.

Safari users should NOT use the browser prompt and must manually disable pop-up blocker.

Mozilla Firefox, newer versions (45.2.0)

1-Tools > 2-Options > 3-Content tab > 4-Block pop-up windows (uncheck)

Under the content tab you can also manually type a web address to allow pop-ups.

Note that the Firefox menu bar (where you find "Tools") may be hiding. (1) Right click at the top of the browser window and (2) check 'Menu Bar' to display the menu and find 'Tools'.
